

Free Software & Open Source Symposium with
Toronto Linuxfest
October 27-29, 2011
Call for Presentations & Workshops

FSOSS 2011, Seneca College's School of Information and Communications Technology tenth annual symposium, has partnered with Toronto Linuxfest and promises to be the biggest and best yet.

We are now accepting proposals for presentations (50 minutes) and workshops (90 minutes). In particular, we are interested in presentations/workshops on the following topics:

- Cloud & Virtualization
- Mobile Computing
- Open Source Business Models and Commercialization
- Open Hardware
- Green IT

Because the community is engaged in wide ranging research and development, we welcome proposals on other open source topics. Really cool stuff is also good.

Talks can be targeted at any audience level from neophyte to expert.

Second round of submissions closes September 1, 2011

Presentations/workshops will be selected by the symposium committee, and you will be notified as soon as a decision has been made. If your proposal is accepted, you do not have to register for the symposium or pay the registration fee. Please note that we cannot defray the costs of travel/accommodation/etc for presenters.

FSOSS 2011 workshops will be held on Thursday, October 27, 2011. Presentations are on Friday October 28 and Saturday Oct 29. To register please complete our on-line form at <http://fsoos.senecac.on.ca/2011/PresentationProposal>

If you have any questions/comments about presentations or this form, please email fsoos@senecac.on.ca.
